Mouse will be very grateful if you take the time to jot down your responses to any or all of the following questions, failing that, any thoughts, comments or responses will be gladly received!

How would you describe your relationship with the city?

I enjoyed very much the urban places, its diversity and every little colour surprise in it. Sometimes I really feel like running away from it.

it's a hate-love relationship

How do you travel about within the city?

I love to walk slowly or very ~~fast~~, depending on my maniatic level. when I'm in a hurry I use public transportation.

How does living in a city change your life for the better?

I get entertainted, the city patterns and happenings keep me active, amuse.

How does living in a city change your life for the worse?

I don't like the noise produced by cars & busses, it stressed me.

Do you feel you have any ownership over the urban environment? If so, how? If not, why not?

The public space is becoming private, so I am trying to rebuild the free market metaphor.

What single thing would you change about the city (if you could) to improve your experience of it?

Cut down restrictions and the control by private companies & ~~the public~~ governm make it more individual friendly.

What single thing about the city most inspires an emotional response in you? What is that emotion? Do you know why you feel it?

Diversity and expression by different cultures.

If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would/do you miss most about the city?

The activities and the concrete corners.

If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would you be/are you happiest to leave behind?

The cameras on every corner, the pollution, the dirt.

Random things this work made me think:

Name/contact (if you would like to provide it):
SANDRA.VINA@TAIK.FI

Thank you!

Mouse will be very grateful if you take the time to jot down your responses to any or all of the following questions, failing that, any thoughts, comments or responses will be gladly received!

How would you describe your relationship with the city?
Part of it in a small area.
How do you travel about within the city?
Mas transportation. Buses. walking
How does living in a city change your life for the better?
More options for hobbies, friends, work.
How does living in a city change your life for the worse?
Doesn't
Do you feel you have any ownership over the urban environment? If so, how? If not, why not?
Only as much as taking care of it as a member.
What single thing would you change about the city (if you could) to improve your experience of it?
The functional styled apartments could be ~~replaced~~ with something less blocky
What single thing about the city most inspires an emotional response in you? What is that emotion? Do you know why you feel it?
Twilight allergy and ~~parks~~ parks. The city is more beautiful then
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would/do you miss most about the city?
options, people.
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would you be/are you happiest to leave behind?
Noise.

Random things this work made me think:

Feels too open and central for my tastes of a city. Positive; needs someone in a cafeteria. Negative, wouldn't want to stay there for long.

Name/contact (if you would like to provide it):

Thank you!

Mouse will be very grateful if you take the time to jot down your responses to any or all of the following questions, failing that, any thoughts, comments or responses will be gladly received!

How would you describe your relationship with the city? city = otanicmi home
How do you travel about within the city?
bus metro bike
How does living in a city change your life for the better?
everything is near
How does living in a city change your life for the worse?
too much beer :(
Do you feel you have any ownership over the urban environment? If so, how? If not, why not?
its what I make of it
What single thing would you change about the city (if you could) to improve your experience of it?
make it work whitout money
What single thing about the city most inspires an emotional response in you? What is that emotion? Do you know why you feel it?
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would/do you miss most about the city?
people
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would you be/are you happiest to leave behind?
work

Random things this work made me think:

- it stoped me to think complicated things
- Something new

Name/contact (if you would like to provide it):

harri.haivala@gmail.com

Thank you!

Mouse will be very grateful if you take the time to jot down your responses to any or all of the following questions, failing that, any thoughts, comments or responses will be gladly received!

How would you describe your relationship with the city?
SYMBIOTIC
How do you travel about within the city?
PUBLIC TRANSPORT
How does living in a city change your life for the better?
NOT SURE - I THINK ITS GOOD TO SPEND TIME AWAY FROM THE CITY FROM TIME 2 TIME
How does living in a city change your life for the worse?
TOO CROWDED / POLLUTION / LESS 'OPEN'
Do you feel you have any ownership over the urban environment? If so, how? If not, why not?
NOT AS MUCH IN THE CITY AS THE PUBLIC OWNS LESS + LESS OF IT
What single thing would you change about the city (if you could) to improve your experience of it?
MORE PUBLIC SPACES
What single thing about the city most inspires an emotional response in you? What is that emotion? Do you know why you feel it?
GIANT CATHEDRAL IN BRIGHTON - IMPOSING WALL / REPRESSION
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would/do you miss most about the city?
NOTHING - I'D VISIT :)
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would you be/are you happiest to leave behind?
THE CLUTTER :)

Random things this work made me think:

HAPPY - INTERESTED - TRAVEL

GHOSTLY - CCTV - WATCHING

NATURE

Name/contact (if you would like to provide it):
ANDY LEMON :)

Thank you!

Mouse will be very grateful if you take the time to jot down your responses to any or all of the following questions, failing that, any thoughts, comments or responses will be gladly received!

How would you describe your relationship with the city?
not bad.
How do you travel about within the city?
foot or train
How does living in a city change your life for the better?
less time spent travelling to see friends / amenities.
How does living in a city change your life for the worse?
loads of beggars and other nefarious and igneous persons.
Do you feel you have any ownership over the urban environment? If so, how? If not, why not?
no, it is owned by the council.
What single thing would you change about the city (if you could) to improve your experience of it?
clean it up. somewhat unclear
What single thing about the city most inspires an emotional response in you? What is that emotion? Do you know why you feel it?
anger at the crowds
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would/do you miss most about the city?
locality and convenience.
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would you be/are you happiest to leave behind?
dirt, constant roadworks.

Random things this work made me think:

Name/contact (if you would like to provide it):

Thank you!

Mouse will be very grateful if you take the time to jot down your responses to any or all of the following questions, failing that, any thoughts, comments or responses will be gladly received!

How would you describe your relationship with the city?
I LIKE IT
How do you travel about within the city?
BUS OR FOOT
How does living in a city change your life for the better?
LOTS TO DO
How does living in a city change your life for the worse?
I HAVE A DREAM OF HUNTING PHEASANT THAT I CANNOT FULFILL
ALSO, WHEN I GET TOO DRUNK AND VOMIT BLOOD
Do you feel you have any ownership over the urban environment? If so, how? If not, why not?
NO COS I RENT
What single thing would you change about the city (if you could) to improve your experience of it?
BETTER CHEAPER TRANSPORT
What single thing about the city most inspires an emotional response in you? What is that emotion? Do you know why you feel it?
I LIKE THE BUSY NATURE OF IT. IT MAKES ME FEEL ALIVE AND THEN I WANT TO DANCE
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would/do you miss most about the city?
MUSIC BOOZE DRUGS PEOPLE BOOBS COFFEE AND THE BUSY NATURE OF IT
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would you be/are you happiest to leave behind?
RUDE PEOPLE

Random things this work made me think:

[redacted] :)

I LIKED IT

Name/contact (if you would like to provide it): GUY

Thank you!

Mouse will be very grateful if you take the time to jot down your responses to any or all of the following questions, failing that, any thoughts, comments or responses will be gladly received!

How would you describe your relationship with the city?
Great.
How do you travel about within the city?
by foot, car.
How does living in a city change your life for the better?
Better locality of shops, bars etc.. more variety.
How does living in a city change your life for the worse?
~~not~~, i dont think there are any disadvantages personally.
Do you feel you have any ownership over the urban environment? If so, how? If not, why not?
NO, i dont feel like we own anything.
What single thing would you change about the city (if you could) to improve your experience of it?
Ban fast food places that encourage idiotic people to litter.
What single thing about the city most inspires an emotional response in you? What is that emotion? Do you know why you feel it?
Graffiti, constantly evolving environment.
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would/do you miss most about the city?
locality of amenities a variety of people you meet.
If you were to move to/live in a rural area, what would you be/are you happiest to leave behind?
traffic overload, drunken idiots, some smells, road works.

Random things this work made me think:

BLOB BLOB BLOB BLOB! - bloke walking along with bag.

litter!

vroom!

changing environment rapidly.

Name/contact (if you would like to provide it):

Thank you!